MEETING WITH FLORENT BONVARLET

Shaper for EP Climbing

After years of experimenting, designing, and producing holds in my workshop with the help of some routesetter friends, I approached EP Climbing. Now I can concentrate solely on molding the hold shape while benefiting from EP's visibility and experience.

Motivated by pure design and the desire to construct ergonomic holds, this current range is the first created by me and produced exclusively by EP. Inspired by movement, like raindrops hitting the water, the roundness and softness of the curved holds are both technical and demanding, allowing routesetters to set for various climbing styles.

I sincerely hope you enjoy setting and climbing with them, as much as I enjoyed imagining them.

Following the success of the fiberglass macros range released last year, Florent has expanded its EP range with 8 new macros. From S to XXL, from jugs to slopers, including crimps, mono-texture or dual texture:

There is something for everyone!."
